Unquestionably, the business of communication, being accessible and delivering services to EVERYONE is becoming increasingly complex.

Providers are being asked to: deliver quality services regardless of geographic limitations, manage consumer care and information, and offer continuing education and training to employees in an environment where costs are soaring and reimbursements are dwindling – and all of this must be provided with accessible communication as outlined in the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

AccessAmerica is the leading provider of Video Remote Interpreting Services – with converged voice, video and Web solutions for emerging broadband networks. AccessAmerica along with Stinger Medical and award-winning Polycom provides collaborative solutions which are best in class, easy to use, natural, and interactive. With 100's of combined years of experience that spans over 20+ years, AccessAmerica, Stinger Medical and Polycom offers:

- Equipment that is globally supported, state and/or nationally certified Sign Language interpreters, integrated video conferencing and collaboration solutions that meet HIPAA requirements
- Remote Interpreting solutions that are specifically designed to integrate with standard video-based endpoints
- Cost-effective communication solutions that are easy to use, manage, and deploy into any worldwide environment including healthcare facilities, educational institutions, large corporations, small business, court systems, etc.

Communication Solutions that involve the power of AccessAmerica and Polycom communications solutions.
